Natural Therapeutic Factors of the Island of Vitality

PRESERVED NATURAL ENVIRONMENT IS A UNIQUE FEATURE OF OUR ISLAND; clean sea and air, mild climate, vegetative cover and aromatic scents with rest and relaxation will have a beneficial effect on you and will make you healthier and happier. In addition to the therapeutic factors, Lošinj offers numerous year-round programs in nature and in specialized institutions that will help you restore and maintain your impaired vitality.

The island's climate is defined by its position in the middle of the northern hemisphere. The island's favorable weather conditions were identified as early as the late 19th century by renowned Viennese medical experts, and were confirmed by long-term expert meteorological observations and research conducted by Dr. Conrad Clar and Prof. Ambroz Haračić. This is why Mali Lošinj and Veli Lošinj were proclaimed climate resorts and rehabilitation centers in 1892 under the national law of the Austrian government in Vienna. It is due to these facts that the island is now a well-known climate resort across the world.

We invite you to discover the benefits of our island and provide your family with a healthy and active holiday.

Welcome to Lošinj, the Island of Vitality!

ANNUAL VARIATION OF THE FEELING OF PLEASURE

Did you know people felt very good on Lošinj because of the prevailing annual feeling of pleasure from chilly to warm and hot? The feeling of “very hot” never appears, and “very cold” is very rare.

In summer months when the feeling of pleasant and warm prevails, you can stay outdoors all day.

The feeling of heat in the afternoon hours of July and August will be mitigated by a refreshing swim in the sea or a stroll in the shade and cool of the pine trees. The abundant Lošinj vegetation will also protect you from the harsh and cold winter bora, occasionally causing a feeling of greater cold in January and February. March, April, May and October are the best months for active holidays with hiking and sports.

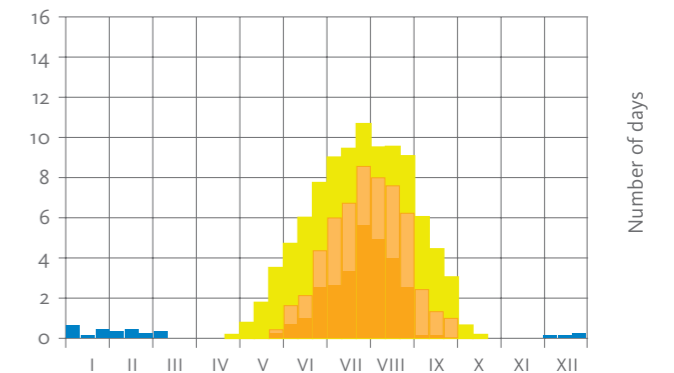

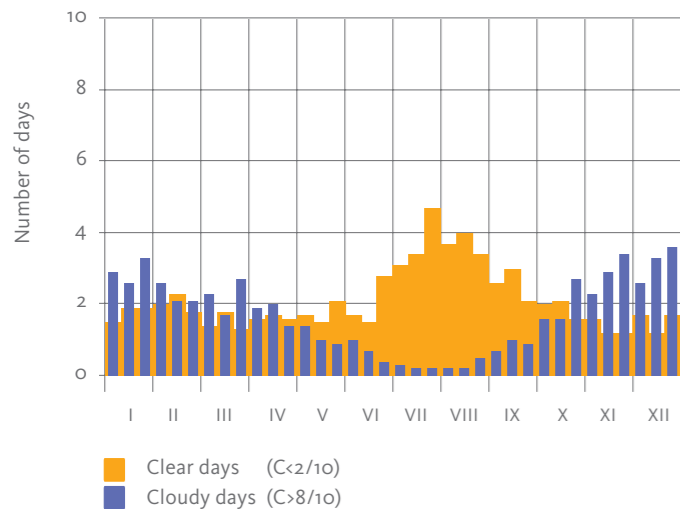

CLIMATE AND BIO-CLIMATE

The latest research confirms the benefits of Lošinj’s moderately warm and rainy climate that have been detected a long time ago. As it happens, under the direct impact of the sea, which is suitable for swimming from mid-June to late September, temperatures vary very little from the average one, the lowest (7.7°C) in February to the highest (24.5°C) in July, which suits everyone.

Daily temperature oscillations are also moderate, which contributes to a feeling of pleasure and reduces stress to the organism.

- Cold days (tmin < 0°C)
- Warm days (tmax >= 25°C)
- Warm nights (tmin >= 20°C)
- Hot days (tmax >= 30°C)

The sun shines for over 2600 hours on Lošinj, which is around 7 hours a day on the average. You can return both sunbathed and sea-bathed from Lošinj, one of the sunniest areas in Croatia. This is particularly significant in autumn and winter when the continental areas are covered with fog and clouds and a weekend on Lošinj can “recharge your batteries”.

Weak winds prevail in the annual wind rose. Mistral, the northwest summer wind, will provide you with refreshment on hot summer days, while sailors and windsurfers will look forward to it out on the sea.

AIR - The results measured by the Public Health Institute in 2007 and 2008 show that the area of Lošinj has a Category 1 air quality. Draw deep breaths and use the natural outdoor aromatherapy, while the essential oils of the pine and marine aerosol purify your lungs.

SEA - The sea is of a high quality on the Island of Lošinj thanks to its transparency and absence of harmful substances. The temperature ranges from 11.8°C in February to a maximum of 23.6°C in August. It is suitable for swimming from June to mid-October when its average temperature is 20°C. As such, it has a beneficial effect on the human organism, relaxes and calms.

In Lošinj you can swim along the entire shoreline and the Veli žal, Punta and Poljana beaches fly the Blue Flag.

As an international environmental protection award, the Blue Flag proves the high quality of our sea and the fact that we know how to manage our environment, invest in environmental education and ensure our residents' and guests' safety.

Our sea is the most beautiful invitation we present to you!

ALGAE - 262 species of benthic algae have been registered in the sea around the Island of Lošinj. Many of them may have beneficial effects on human health thanks to their valuable ingredients and various methods of use.

Algae and sea salt – is there anything better for our skin?

FLORA - The mild Mediterranean climate has made the Island of Lošinj famous for its abundant vegetation and public gardens, on which its tourist flourishing is based. Diverse Mediterranean plants with their essential scents, colors and shapes have a beneficial effect on human health and protects against solar radiation and cold winds. According to research, there are over 1100 plant species on the island, 939 of them belonging to the autochthonous flora. As many as 230 species are classified as herbs. Famous Lošinj captains and seamen brought around 80 species from their journeys, most of them exotic plants, and planted them in the gardens around their houses. Agave, Mexican cactus (opuntia), palm trees, magnolia, myrtle, pistachio, mimosa, Indian fig (karmus-nassarah), lemon, orange and tangerine, loquat, oleander, carob, rosemary, eucalyptus, sequoia, tamaris and other plants grow here. Landmarks include the protected park forests of Čikat and Pod Javori, containing the full abundance of Lošinj's vegetation. Lošinj is abundant in rich and diverse vegetation throughout the year. In May, when most plants are in bloom, the scenery is heavenly and the whole island just blossoms.

SUNNY DAYS - The large number of average daily and annual sunny hours attracts numerous tourists to our island because the strictly dosed solar radiation, infrared and ultraviolet rays have a favorable effect on children's growth and development, as well as recovery and recreation of adults.

We recommend you use body milk or oil with a protective factor.

PROMENADES AND TRAILS – An Aromatic Experience on Five Islands

On Lošinj, you can hike and mountaineer year-round on as much as 220 kilometers of improved trails stretching across five islands. They cover areas on the Island of Cres (Punta Križa) and on the islands of Lošinj, Ilovik, Susak and Unije. The trails are diverse – from easy hiking ones for those who are not in top physical shape to medium and very demanding mountaineering trails. The hills of Osorščica (Nerezine) and Sveti Ivan (Veli Lošinj) are very attractive for mountaineering fans, while the hiking trails running right along the shore are ideal for long walks and relaxation.

Stay mobile and discover all secrets of the numerous islands within our archipelago! Each one of them jealously conceals its interesting features and beauties! Let them become part of your unique experience!

SPORTS - the heavenly climate provides year-round sporting options. Professional athletes find a shelter here on cold winter days, while recreationists and amateurs find one throughout the year. Sporting options are very diverse, including underwater sports (diving and underwater fishing) and water sports (sailing, windsurfing, skiing, sport fishing, water polo). If you prefer onshore sports, you will be satisfied to find tennis, basketball, soccer, beach volley, bowling, boccie and fitness centers. You can rent a bike, moped or a boat, all toward a healthy and active holiday!

EVENTS ON NATURAL THERAPEUTIC FACTORS OF THE ISLAND

Since 2000, the Lošinj School of Natural Therapeutic Factors has been held regularly at the Veli Lošinj Health Resort on the first weekend in September. A dozen such conventions have been held, unique to both Croatia and Europe in their topics.
